

GRANTS AID MANY STUDENTS

5—ISSUE 2

PASCO, WASH. 2

FRIDAY, OCT. 9, 1959

Honor Group to Become Activated

The Honor Society — Phi Theta Kappa — of Columbia Basin College will soon become an active organization. Miss Katherine Schilberg, mathematics instructor, has been selected to be advisor this year, filling the vacancy left by Mr. Jim Stakkestad. She recently accepted the position of head of the mathematics department in a newly established California junior college.

Through the efforts of Miss Schilberg and the members of the society, activities and programs will be organized throughout the year to promote scholarship, to develop character and to cultivate fellowship among junior college students.

One of the high points of the year will be the national convention of Phi Theta Kappa in Antonio, Texas, and the bringing of new members into the chapter at CBC.

Officers for the year are: president, Ron Richeson; vice president, Jesse Mast; secretary, Nancy Shenefelt; treasurer, Stan Cole; and historian, Janet Tidrick.

President Richeson hopes that through the society's activities it may induce more students to keep up good grades so that they may be elected next spring at the semi-annual Phi Theta Kappa induction ceremony.

Pinners' Golf Proves Popular

During its second year is the pinners' golf class at Pasco, Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Kennewick golf course, with Mr. Welch instructing men and women.

Like last year's golf class with about 12, this year Mrs. Mary Welch, women's P.E. teacher, has a class of about 30.

It is rapidly becoming a popular sport with both men and women partaking in not only private games but championship games as well.

"Don't expect to become a professional," stated Marilyn Welch after many attempts at winning the golf club, "but it will be fun."

Pin Day is July 14. Vive Pin Day! Who was Bastille?

Several New Faces Added To Faculty Ranks For Year

A number of new names have been added to the list of CBC faculty members this year.

Mrs. Lenore VanSant has been living in Pasco for the last nine years but has been teaching for only three of them. She is originally from Nebraska, and graduated from college in Rockford, Illinois. Her graduate work was done in medicine at the University of Nebraska. She is now teaching zoology and biology at CBC.

Mrs. Esther Alkire, mathematics instructor, came here after teaching math at the University of Oregon and Ohio University.

Mrs. Jeanne Luhman is teaching home economics and English. She graduated from a state teacher's college in North Dakota and has a master's degree from Colorado State.

Sig Hansen is assistant football coach, track coach, and sociology instructor. He coached for five years before receiving his degree. Before coming to CBC he coached at Highland High School.

Head football coach Dwight Pool has lived in this area all his life. He graduated from WSC and came to coach in Pasco. After five years at Pasco High, he was signed to coach at CBC. He also teaches PE and health education.

James Beecroft graduated from Brigham Young University in Utah, majoring in mathematics. This is his first year of teaching at CBC.

Loren Anderson is teaching psychology. He has been in school work for 33 years, 30 of which were in school administration. He graduated first from Cheney and has a master's from Whitworth.

Ervin Edmunds teaches economics and mathematics. He has a master's degree from Northwestern University in economics and a masters in science. He has been working with Boeing since 1948.

Joseph Taylor, teaching English, came here from Missouri because he "wanted to do something different." He graduated from Central College in Missouri and has been teaching three years.

Francis Coehlo is teaching art. Prior to coming here he taught for several years in the Richland high school. He graduated from Cheney.

Aaron Quanbeck, engineering instructor has his master's degree from Colorado State. Before coming to CBC he worked for Boeing as an industrial engineer.

David Smith is teaching English. His home town is Miami, Oklahoma. He graduated from Oklahoma State where he also got his master's degree. For the past eight years he worked for General Electric in Education and Training.

AWS Institutes Planning Group

Because of the large number of women students, it has been necessary this year to have a council that does the planning for all AWS events.

This council is made up of eleven committee chairmen and the officers.

The council will meet once a week and then there will be one large meeting once a month.

Last week the council was elected by the women students. The committees and chairmen are as follows:

1. Publicity Committee — Susi Seaburger and Linda Yamauchi.
2. Winter Formal Committee — Marilyn Cowell and Vonn Rouse.
3. Mothers Tea Committee — Sandy Hesselman and Shirley Gretz.
4. Concession Committee — Carol Jaeger and Janice Rodgers.
5. Girls Lounge Committee — Sharon Tison and George Ann Jones.
6. School Spirit Committee — Sandy Brown.
7. Bulletin Board Committee — Ruth Hutchison.
8. Constitution Committee — Marilyn Beecher.
9. Service for School Committee — Dee Miller.
10. Senior Women Committee — Geneva Shook.
11. Service for Community Committee — Doris Gerike and Barbara Rau.

The officers who were elected are: secretary, Marilyn Stork; treasurer, Barbara Horton, A.S.B. representative, Mary O'Kon;

Civic Clubs Give Many Scholarships

Each year many civic organizations sponsor scholarships to be awarded to students returning to CBC and also to future students of the college.

The George Washington Foundation offers more scholarships to CBC than any other organization. This year there are five recipients of George Washington Foundation scholarships. These students are Blenda Hooper, Patsy McInturf, Diane Swenson, Doris Tate, and Janice Rodgers.

Donna Egan and Marilyn Beecher were awarded scholarships from the Pasco-Kennewick Altrusa. Two co-eds from nearby communities received P.T.A. awards. Laurence Hayes received Connell's and Lelen Holland received Finley's P.T.A. scholarships. The Pasco-Kennewick Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma chose Bobbie Burke as their winner.

Ron Richeson received the Pasco Kiwanis scholarship.

The railroaders offered an award to Shirley Gretz, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and Don Eisenbarth, Railway Labor Council.

Don Idler received the Pasco-Kennewick Rotary Award and Yvonne King the Pasco P.T.A.

Marilyn Cowell from Pasco received the Kennewick Exchange Club scholarship. Carol Jaeger and Jane Zeigler received awards from the Washington State Congress of P.T.A.

Sharon Tison received the Ann Tampien award and Judith Drotta the Richland Women's National Secretary Club award.

Jerry Soehnlein was awarded

Student Makes World Tour

For the ideal summer vacation, why not a trip around the world?

Steve Knapp spent the past three months visiting 18 countries. From the rickshaw rides to the timeless ruins in Greece, the people, as well as the wonders, were unforgettable. Among the friendliest people were those in Australia, Knapp said.

Specific places he visited were Hawaii, the Fij Islands, New Zealand, Australia, Ceylon, Arabia, Egypt, Lebanon, Israel, Turkey, Greece, Italy, France, Holland, and England.

Knapp found the most interesting part of the entire trip in a small Dutch town (pop. 1,200) named Leoth. Friends he had previously known, a family consisting of parents and 14 children, helped him tour neighboring towns, and an old Dutch windmill, took him to an annual bird shot and dance on the family's bicycles.

ed the Richland Federation and Letterman's Club scholarship, and Judy Cox received the Columbia High School Pep Club Award.

Rounding out the last of the civic scholarships is the Plumbers and Fitters Local 598, who chose David Terentoff as recipient.

Director Welcomes Students

On behalf of the faculty and the college administration it is my pleasure to welcome you as students to Columbia Basin College.

It is hoped that we can provide you with an atmosphere that will give you an incentive to work hard and become good contributing members of your community.

It is believed that with team work and initiative you can help build our new college into one of the better institutions of higher learning.

We are off to a fine beginning and I know that the CBC Hawk will soar higher and higher this year.

Jack E. Cooney

Correction

The Gateway Singers, nationally known vocal group, will appear in Pasco under the sponsorship of the Columbia Basin College Student Body on Saturday, March 5, instead of Monday, March 7 as was announced in the previous issue of the Collegiate.

A Note From The Editor

Have you written a publishable letter to the editor? Have you expressed your views on controversial issues concerning college students by writing a guest column? Have you tried your hand at writing an editorial?

If your answers have been "no" to all of the foregoing questions, you are a bad one, and you get no gold star for this week.

To be serious, a student newspaper should function as a medium for the expression of student ideas and opinions, and unless they are offered they cannot be expressed.

We of the Collegiate staff have set high objectives for ourselves this year, and we intend to carry them out. Included in this set of objectives is a weekly paper, which we have so far managed to produce, but which has been weak in certain spots.

In the opinion of the editor, we must have a news editor, an assistant feature editor, an assistant copy editor, and more people experienced in photography work.

The people to fill the above positions must be forthcoming from the student body.

You, the reader, are a member of the student body.

Purposes Of Junior College Said To Be Numerous, Varied

The junior college is an educational institution unlike any other with which most of us are familiar. Most educators prefer the term community college, because this type of school is not, strictly speaking, anybody's junior.

A school like Columbia Basin College has as one of its principle aims service to the community and to various groups of people in the community.

Students working on degrees and wishing to transfer credits to four year institutions are one such group.

The school also services terminal students—those whose aim is vocational training and who want to be on the job at the end of one or two years.

Another group includes those who are interested in broadening their interests in special-interest classes. Most of these people are served by the extended day school program.

Still another group includes those segments of the community who take advantage of the special short courses offered from time to time by the college.

Also to be considered are those students who are not yet sure that they want a college degree but are able to find out what college is like because the two year school is in the community.

The main difference, then between the junior college and the four year college lies in the fact that the former attempts to serve a greater proportion of the population.

Faculty Members View Pictures

Slides of Europe were the highlight of the first faculty social event of the year last Friday.

Faculty members gathered for a coffee hour and the viewing of pictures taken by Mr. James Moberg and Mr. John Shaeffer on their tour of Europe last summer.

The tour included most of the countries of Europe, including Greece and Yugoslavia and several days behind the Iron Curtain in Moscow, Russia. They also toured East Berlin.

Moberg and Shaeffer were gone from early June until September, and stated that they were most impressed with Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries.

Millinery Class Still Offered

If any one is interested in sewing, openings still exist in the Tuesday afternoon millinery class at Columbia Basin College.

Enrollment may still be made in the next class at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in room C-209 at the college. Information may be obtained from Mrs. Stapler, at LI 7-2481.

Instructions are given for making all styles and types of hats. Most of the instruction is individual. Millinery supplies may be obtained from the instructor. Any student taking the course gets one junior college credit.

The year 1959 will end on December 31.

CBC's Art Department Leaps Forward

CBC has a remodeled art department this year.

Last year the department consisted of a few drawing desks and limited facilities. But today there are more adequate facilities.

Those working in the art department are building towards facilities to cover everything that can be done in art.

Mr. Francis Coehlo (head of the art department) assisted by a carpenter, designed and built the entire department in a month's time. The facilities can be classified as "revolutionary," because all of the necessary tools, except paper and water, are provided for the students at each of the many well-designed tables. The room itself shows a very

Library Provides Facilities For Study, Research, Reading

Many students are taking advantage of the library facilities at CBC this year.

Regular hours are from 7:50 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 6:30 p.m. through 9:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

The library contains 4000 volumes, 140 periodicals, back issues of periodicals, and the beginning of a record collection of languages and poetry. It also has charge of the audio visual department which rents and orders films from film deposits.

A micro-film reader, a gift from the Pasco-Kennewick Soroptomist Club, is available for student use. It is especially useful for current material. The New York Times has been on micro-film since March. New York Times Index is available.

Regular volumes are rotated for two weeks, and be renewed. Some books placed on reserve by teachers for one hour or from 2:30 to 8 a.m., or for three days. Penalties are two cents per hour for two week book reserves, and 25 cents per hour for three day reserves. Book issues circulate over night the collection is small.

New books are constantly being added, at which time lists are sent out to faculty members, and are posted for student use.

Even now the library is crowded, especially during the busy period, but it is equipped to handle the situation. One end may be removed to make room in the future for a mezzanine floor may be built to form another room. Over about half the room, students will find the library adequate and helpful if they have time to examine the collection.

Folk Dancers Invite Students

CBC students are invited to take advantage of beginning instruction in folk dancing sponsored by the International Folk Dancers of Richland.

The first class meets at 7 p.m., Thursday, October 2, and classes will be held on Thursday thereafter. Beginning instruction will be in such basic steps as waltz, schottische, polka, step, hambo, etc.

Instruction is given from 7 to 9, followed by review and instruction in an advanced dance, followed in turn by dancing for pleasure.

Meetings are held in the Richland Community Hall. The first three lessons are free of charge, but thereafter non members of the IFD are charged 35 cents a lesson and members 25 cents a lesson.

Further information may be obtained from Miss Mary Orr, Richland 5-9122.

Poet's Corner

CBC'S SPIRIT
By Bill Dickey

If our team seems bad to us,
Don't stand around and fuss.
Get out there in rain or snow,
And let your team

really know
That the students are behind,
That backfield

and fighting line.
Show school spirit all the time
And our boys

will break that line.
Football is a game with heart
With no will

they'll tear you apart
Don't get me wrong
when this I say,

Because our boys
have the will to play,
But they need the

alma mater held high,
If you want to see them
catch that pass from the sky.

Get out there to the field,
shout and scream,
And state championship

won't be just a dream Fight fellows, fight through every game
For CBC's spirit

will never go lame.

Defeat Lower Columbia, 14-7

By DENNIS MCGRAW

Disregarding the loss of several key men, the Hawks climbed into second place Saturday with a 14-7 victory over Lower Columbia at Longview.

Offensive guns, Raye Renfro and Jim Wickwire, and defensive tackle, Jon Froberg, missed the action, but the Hawks still had little trouble in handing Lower Columbia its second straight loss.

Failing to score in their first two drives, the Hawks punctured the LC defense for their first marker in the second period. George Stephens hit Daryl Henjum with a 32-yard pass to allow Galen Rogers to pump over from the two to snap a scoreless tie. Moe Miller's kick gave CBC a 7-0 lead.

Dwight Pool's offense repeatedly had the Red Devils on their toes. With Rogers and Dave Milam taking the place of Renfro and Wickwire, CBC amassed 385 yards total offense as compared with 187 for the out-manned LC team.

Rogers' 36-yard jaunt enabled Columbia Basin to score the clincher early in the third period. It was Milam, who totaled 100 yards rushing in 11 attempts, scooting 12 yards for the tally. Again Miller spliced the uprights to make the count 14-0.

Lower Columbia wasn't able to hit the scoring column until with a minute of play remaining, fullback Ed Laulainen drove over from the five. While Stephens was hitting 6 of 10 passes for 124 yards, LC quarterback, Scott Bettesworth, found difficulty in penetrating the CBC pass defense in person of Rance Spruill. Spruill clogged the opposing airways with three interceptions. Bettesworth still managed to complete eight passes for 117 yards.

A stubborn Columbia Basin line, headed by Ted Kuykendall, Larry Fogg, Bob Stecker, Dave Everitt, and Glen Crandall, turned back numerous Red Devil threats to insure a Hawk victory. As determined by the low score, it was this sturdy defense that provided CBC with its largest win output in a single season in the past four years.

Leading CBC's offensive drive was pile-driving fullback Galen Rogers. He reeled off more yards than any other CBC back had gained this year by collecting 131 in 21 carries. In addition to Rogers, Stephens, and Milam, who compiled the biggest per cent of ground for CBC, Pool alternated Jerry Stump, Mickey Arledge, Tim Connors, Rance Spruill, and Richard Correa in the backfield.

Columbia Basin is preparing for a three-game home stand beginning tomorrow with the EWCE JV's. They will host Yakima JC and George Fox College in the other two outings.

New Coach Gives Opinion On Team, Games, Coaching

In answer to many inquiries of Columbia Basin students about CBC's new football coach, Dwight Pool, the Collegiate is publishing the following comments given by him in a recent interview:

Opinion of the team this year:

"We have two very fast backfields; both are good backfields. This includes four good quarterbacks; Jerry Stump, Ken Jacobs, Dan Shroll, and George Stephens. Our attitude has been excellent, our line has been improving rapidly, but we are fairly weak on defense."

Outlook for the CBC-EWCE game:

"We know nothing of EWCE. We had no chance to scout them because we wanted to scout Yakima JC. We'll use the same offense and defense patterns that we've used all year. Yakima beat them three weeks ago, but they probably have improved since then."

Difference between high school ball and college:

"There is very little difference in the coaching. As far as players go, naturally, the college players are better. In college the competition for every game is strong. On the whole the entire league is stronger."

The road to success is filled with a lot of tempting parking places.

Pool graduated from WSU in 1952 after which he accepted a position as head track and football coach, also as a P.E. instructor. At Pasco he compiled one of the best prep records in the state—34 wins, 9 losses, and 1 tie.

CBC Cindermen To Organize Cross Country Squad

CBC track coach Sig Hanson has announced that he will be glad to help with the organization of a cross country track team this fall if enough cindermen are interested.

Since Hanson is also assistant football coach, the project would have to wait until after November 11, the end of football season. After that time, however, there will be several meets in which the team could participate.

Hanson cited several students who have the ability to be on a cross country team and stated that there are undoubtedly more than those to whom he had already talked, who would be interested.

Those who are should leave their names with Hanson or with Ron Richeson, team member.

Dave: Do you have a hobby?
Tom: Sure. I try to get my weekly allowance without doing any work.

Practical Nursing Students Train Here, At Hospitals

Seventeen women have enrolled in CBC's practical nursing course this year.

Practical nursing has been defined by the National League for Nursing as follows: "A trained practical nurse is a person prepared by an approved educational program to share in the care of the sick, in rehabilitation and prevention of illness, always under the direction of a licensed physician and/or a registered professional nurse."

The course includes the study of body structure and function, personal and community hygiene, basic nursing care, nutrition, and diet therapy.

The class at CBC is conducted by Mrs. Bernice Crumley, who has made use of films, a field trip to the Pasco Water filter plant, and a speaker from the public health center in addition to presenting regular classroom work.

Students spend 480 hours in the classroom. January 1st the class starts training and orientation in the Kennewick and Pasco hospitals for eight months at 160 hours each month, or for a total of 1,280 hours.

At the end of this time one is eligible to apply for the state board examinations to be given in Seattle. If the student passes, she receives her license and becomes a licensed practical nurse.

So far in class, students have learned the function of the circulatory system, the proper way to make a hospital bed, the killing of germs on the hands, and the taking of temperature and pulse.

LIFE

By Karen Monge

Up in the morning, in bed at night.
It will never change, try as you might.
But you don't care, you're happy and free,
You hope some day the world you'll see.
Around some corner a danger may lurk.
You got no job, don't like to work.
And you know one thing for sure is true,
You have to take and you have to give,
And you have to work in order to live.

Part-Time Jobs Benefit Students

Part-time work is something necessary for most of us attending college, but it can also be interesting and fun, as these two students have found.

Combining studies with spinning the records on Radio Station KALE's "Music From the Stars" is the job of Jim Jacobs.

Mr. Jacobs has been announcing for KALE for the past three years. He attended Pasco High School and studied radio-engineering in Los Angeles, Calif.

He would like to see CBC become a four year college so that he could continue his education here.

Mr. Jacobs resides at 1107 Jan Street, Pasco with his wife and two sons.

Cecil Gibson, former rodeo rider in Oregon circuits, is majoring in Veterinary medicine at CBC.

Gibson's enthusiasm and love for horses kept him in the rodeo until an injury a year ago.

Hoping to obtain a trainer's license, he is schooling two horses at the Ben Blair farm in the Horse Heaven area.

Gibson lives at Rte. 1, Kennewick.

Malnutrition Threat End for Bachelors

Attention bachelors!

The cafeteria is now serving an evening meal from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

There is also a coffee break for night school students from 8 to 8:45 p.m., during which time the cafeteria is open and serving coffee.

Schweitzer Foundation Sponsors Essay Contest

"The Challenge of Albert Schweitzer" 85th anniversary essay competition is open to all interested individuals in the following classifications:

| Classification            | 1st Award | Number of Words    |
|---------------------------|-----------|--------------------|
| College Faculty           | $500.00  | 8,000 to 10,000    |
| Graduate Students         | $400.00  | 6,000 to 8,000     |
| College Students          | $300.00  | 4,000 to 6,000     |
| Secondary School Students | $200.00  | 2,000 to 4,000     |
| Laymen                    | $250.00  | 2,500 to 5,000     |
| Clergymen                 | $400.00  | Del. sermon script |

Individuals are invited to submit essays on the general topic, "The Challenge of Albert Schweitzer."

The purpose of this competition is to encourage individuals to read Albert Schweitzer's writings, to study the wholeness of his concept of Reverence for Life, and to evaluate his synthesis in relation to their own personal philosophies and to the world crisis.

The objective is not to promote cultism or uncritical acceptance. Contestants need not agree with Dr. Schweitzer's ideas. However, all interpretations should reflect a clear understanding of Dr. Schweitzer's writings.

An international committee of Schweitzer's scholars will judge the essays. They will give clarity and accuracy in presenting ideas more consideration than literary style.

Admission Officers Attend Conference

The admission officers representing the colleges in Washington State, and the principals of all high schools, will attend the High School - College Relations Conference at Walla Walla, October 26.

Mr. George Askegaard, CBC Director of Admissions, will be attending the conference. The delegates will discuss the application for admission to institutes of higher learning, qualifying examines for freshman students, and visitation day for high school seniors.

Class Hears Broker Talk About Stocks

Last Friday the economics 201 class listened to Mr. Carl Perry, Pasco stock broker, who was guest lecturer in class.

The topic for discussion was "Stock Market Operation." Perry gave the class first hand information on the stock and bond market, a topic being studied at the time.

Throughout the year local business people from different fields will be invited to talk to various classes.

Electronics Course Added to Schedule

A new industrial electronics course has been added to the curriculum at CBC this year.

The course is set up under the auspices and aid of the National Defense Act. "The objective of the course," says vocational director Harold Severeid, "is to train the student efficiently in broad areas so that he may be fitted for employment in federal, state, and private installations."

Math, radio theory, and manipulative skills are a few of the subjects encountered by the student in the course.

The first 75 holders student body cards to sign may attend four concerts at the Pasco - Kennewick Community Concerts, Inc.

The ASB pays $3.50 ticket for 75 memberships to the association which also titles students to attend concerts of other Community Concert Associations, subject to the prior right of the local members. Listed below are dates of the 12 performances available to CBC students.
